

Lumberjack Hill

This student housing complex consists of 19 two- and three-story buildings. It contains 242 student apartments, totalling 600 beds, and is located on 15 acres.

The buildings are wood frame with exterior siding. Due to harsh winter weather conditions and restricted maneuverability around the heavily wooded construction site, a helicopter was used to set the roof trusses.

Each building was carefully sited among the evergreen trees to meet Flagstaff's strict forest preservation codes.
